Kingston Auto Dealers' Plans For Used Cars

Used Car Exchange, of Which Thirteen Dealers Are Members, Will Operate Under Noyes Plan, Which Has Been Adopted by 30 Localities—Solves Big Problem—Outline of Work of Exchange.

A business which will undoubtedly develop into the largest automobile business in Kingston will very shortly be opened in this city. This business will be conducted by the Kingston Dealers Used Car Exchange, Inc., which recently filed papers of incorporation with the secretary of state. The Exchange is a $50,000 corporation which is authorized to buy, sell and deal in second hand or used cars. Behind the concern are thirteen of the prominent automobile dealers of the city, all representative dealers who are now selling new cars. The new corporation which will be open for business about April first has been organized for the purpose of taking care of the used car situation in the city of Kingston and Ulster county in such a way as to provide an honest market for used cars where the seller as well as the purchaser of a used car may transact business.

Behind the corporation are the 13 dealers in Kingston who stake their reputation as well as that of the new corporation in all transactions. The fact that the dealers who sell new cars are behind the proposition is a guarantee of good service and honest treatment to seller as well as purchaser. The corporation is to be conducted under what is known as the Noyes New London plan, originated by John F. Noyes of New London, Conn., a motor car dealer, as a solution to the used car problem which is common to all localities. The plan is now in successful operation in over 30 localities.

Cities Now Using Plan.
In Middletown the Noyes plan has been in operation for some time and has met with decided success. Port Jervis, Tarrytown, New Rochelle and Hudson already have the plan in operation and in Poughkeepsie and Newburgh the plan is now being adopted. The plan has been tried out in several larger cities in the east and has apparently solved the used car problem which has given the dealers considerable anxiety for a number of years, in fact ever since the motor car became a common vehicle with frequent change in design and model.

Officers of Kingston Exchange.
The Kingston Dealers Used Car Exchange, Inc., has been in the process of organization for some time. The plan was thoroughly investigated and delegations from nearby cities where the plan is now in operation met with the local dealers to explain how the plan worked out. In each instance the dealers were entirely satisfied. When the Kingston exchange was organized Roy M. Sullivan was elected president; J. David Schenck was elected vice president; William J. McGrath, treasurer, and Monroe Southard, secretary.

Members of the Exchange.
In the Exchange are thirteen of the representative dealers of the city. Those in the Exchange at the present time are:
Broadway Garage, LeRoy Longenecker, proprietor.
Columbia Garage, William Morris, proprietor.
Eagle Garage, William Abernethy, proprietor.
Forsyth & Davis Motor Car Company.
Keller & Bennett.
Central Garage, O. M. Kennedy, proprietor.
A. F. Molynaux.
William J. McGrath.
George J. Schryver Motor Car Company.
Southard & Belcher, Inc.
Stuyvesant Garage, A. H. & L. E. Chambers, proprietors.
Sullivan, Inc.
Van Motor Car Company.

These thirteen dealers are behind the corporation, which is financed by these dealers. All are vitally interested in maintaining good will, in giving 100 per cent service to their car owners, in maintaining the reputation of the line of cars they sell and in getting the sale of used cars on the highest plane through the Kingston Dealers' Used Car Exchange, Inc., which is as much a part of their business as their sales of new cars. It is an institution controlled by reputable dealers which is operated not for profit but as a means of disposing of used cars in such a manner as to make way for the sale of new cars. In selling new cars it is essential in this age that old cars be taken in exchange in the majority of deals and this fact has caused the dealers considerable difficulty in the past.

No Profit for Exchange.
The exchange being operated as a cooperative concern by the dealers themselves, it is not the desire of the concern to make any money on the transactions which the Exchange consummated. In days gone by the second hand or used car problem of the individual dealer was a big one and the annual cost of operating a used car department was big. By constituting the second hand or change under one roof and under one management, the overhead of all dealers is very materially reduced. For this reason the sale of new cars will be less expensive and by reason of this the dealers will be asked to make good such deficiency as may arise in the Exchange. Each month the deficiency will be ascertained and each dealer will be asked to make good his pro rata share of the cost of operating the Exchange according to the number of transactions which have been put through the Exchange by him.

How the Plan Works.
Briefly the working of the Kingston Dealers Used Car Exchange, Inc., will be as follows:
The owner of a used car wishing to buy a new automobile and to apply his used car in part payment, brings his car to the dealer where he desires to purchase a new car. They go to the Exchange where the car is carefully checked by a competent disinterested mechanic as to the mechanical condition, tires, paint, battery, top, curtains, etc.
A base or sale price, determined by experience and based entirely on the supply and demand and the condition in the Kingston market, is used for this particular make, year and model. Ten per cent is deducted from this base or sale price out of which the Exchange must pay all of its expenses. As a matter of fact the Exchange in other towns have all shown a deficiency which is made up by the dealers in the Exchange and written off pro rata by them each month. Then further deductions from the sale price is made, if necessary, for mechanical work, tires, paint, damaged body, etc., so that after a careful check-up of the car in question an accurate amount for reconditioning the car is arrived at. After this amount is deducted from the sale price a certificate is issued. In this way a man who has a used car which he has taken exceptionally good care of will get a better price than the man who has neglected or abused his car.

All Cars Reconditioned.
The car, if the price allowed by the Exchange is satisfactory to the owner, is turned over to the Exchange and before it is resold it is reconditioned, in other words repaired by specialists in that line and placed in A-1 order before it is offered for sale. After being placed in condition it is marked with the price for which it is to be sold and that price will be the price allowed the owner plus the price allowed the expert makes when the car is brought in for appraisal and which is deducted from the sale or base price at that time. In no case will cars be sold for less or more than the price at which it is marked.

Owner Gets Certificate.
A certificate of purchase, non-transferable and applicable on the purchase price of any new car sold by any member dealer, is issued by the Exchange to the owner. The owner need not use this certificate to purchase any one make of car but may use it on the purchase price of any car which is sold by a member. The dealer to whom this certificate is presented accepts it at its face value on the purchase of a new car. It is in turn presented by the dealer to the Exchange and cashed. Thus as soon as a deal is closed and a new car sold the dealer gets his cash for the used car turned in and is relieved of carrying this burden. The purpose of the Exchange is to relieve the dealer of this burden and he is thereby relieved of this responsibility and never has large sums tied up in second hand cars as at present under the old method of doing business. His money is at all times available for carrying on the sale of new cars.

Dealers and Exchange Related Sales.
The purchaser of one of the used cars from the Exchange is assured of a good used car. All cars will be reconditioned and placed in good order before being offered for sale. The reputation of all the thirteen member-dealers as well as a $50,000 corporation stands behind every sale of a used car purchased at the Exchange. Then, too, all cars will be displayed under one roof where a purchaser may come and examine them without a shopping expedition, confident that the car he selects will be in good condition with a good warranty to back up the deal. Any used car sold must be in good condition for the Exchange backed by the dealers must hold the confidence of all purchasers.

Specialists Do Work.
On all reconditioning jobs the work will be done by the dealer selling the individual car so that all reconditioning will be done by experts and by dealers who are anxious to see that the best results are obtained from the car as the purchaser of a second hand car of the make he wants is always a prospective purchaser of a new car or

White Slave Ring In New York City

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, March 25.—A white slave ring in operating out of New York and bringing girls from Pennsylvania to New York, police were told today after they had taken into custody three girls from cities in Pennsylvania. The girls are: Evelyn Mitchell, 23, of Morrison; Mary Richter, 19, of Squirrel Hill, near Pittsburgh, and Theresa Gately, 17, of Wilkes-Barre.
The Mitchell and Richter girls were rescued from a flat in Brooklyn where they were being kept prisoner, police said, by Charles and Joseph Ferrara. Both girls said they answered advertisements in Pittsburgh and came to New York expecting to be married.
Once in the flat, the girls said, their clothes were taken from them and they were kept under constant guard and forced to entertain men. The Gately girl was found in a house in Yonkers. She told of meeting a young man in Wilkes-Barre and being influenced to come to New York.
Detectives had to chop down the door of the Ferrara flat with an axe and fire five shots before the brothers surrendered.
Miss Mitchell was said to have told police she was a Cherokee princess.

New Government For Westchester

Both Houses of Legislature Expected to Adopt Charter Bill Which Must Be Approved by Referendum Before Going into Effect.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, N. Y., March 25.—The Westchester charter bill, sponsored by Senator Westall and Assemblyman Moore, Republicans, of Westchester, was favorably reported to the upper house today by the internal affairs committee. It will be rushed through both houses to final passage.
The proposed change of government in Westchester county, before becoming effective, must be approved by the voters at a referendum.
Under the proposed charter, the county would have a president and vice president. The president would be clothed with wide powers.
The Thayer bill, which would lessen the paving costs for trolley companies, is regarded as dead. It has not been reported by the public service committee of the senate. This bill was strongly opposed at a recent hearing by Mayor Hyman and other city representatives.

Times Unchanged, Says Governor

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, N. Y., March 25.—"Things have not changed much in ten years. The same old arguments for and against bills are presented and then everyone lights a cigar."
This was Governor Smith's comment today regarding a meeting of the rules committee of the Assembly which he attended last night.
The governor was a member of the rules committee for several years when he was in the Legislature.
"It seemed like old times to hear the bills discussed behind closed doors," the governor said, smiling.
It was said this was probably the first time in the state's history that its chief executive has attended a meeting of the rules committee. Speaker McGinnis of Assembly is chairman of the committee.

Inquest Into Drowning of Charles Bond

Testimony at Coroner's Inquest Upon Body of Charles Bond, Who Was Drowned in a Stream at Pintard's Place, Rifton on March 18.
A coroner's inquest upon the body of Charles Bond of Gardiner, who was found in a stream near the William Pintard place at Rifton on March 13, was conducted this morning at the court house before Coroner George Sulter of Marlborough. Chris J. Flanagan conducted the examination of witnesses for the district attorney. At the time of the finding of the body in a shallow stream near the Pintard place it was believed that Bond, a man of about 60, who was employed at the Pintard place, had fallen into the stream while attending a net which he had set for fish and had drowned. At the time of the finding of the body nothing to indicate foul play was noticed by the men who found the body. There was a small scratch on the forehead such as might have been made when he fell into the water.

Did Not See Bond Drink

Roscoe Wynkoop, who works at the Pintard place where no also resides, was the first witness called. He first knew Bond a few days prior to his death when he came to work at Pintard's. He saw Bond on Friday, March 13, about 5:30 o'clock. He was splitting ties at Pintard's and did not appear to be intoxicated. He did not see Bond drink that day. The next he knew of Bond was when Alex Stokes, who found the body, informed him that the body was in the water in the rear of the Pintard house and he went to the spot. This was about 8 o'clock the night of the 13th. Stokes went out to the barn to look for Bond when he was missed from supper. Stokes told him that he had found Bond in the creek. Wynkoop said the place where the body was found was some 300 feet from the house and in about eight inches of water. It was about the same distance from the state road. Nearby, some 30 or 50 feet under a bridge, was a net hanging in the water. He never saw Bond use the net or hear him say anything about it. Bond had, however, spoken to him about fishing as soon as the ice went out. The first he knew Bond was missing was when someone told him about 7:30 that Bond had not been in to supper. Stokes then went out to the barns looking for him with a lantern.

No Marks of Violence

Alex Stokes, who found the body was next sworn. He resides nearby and after supper had gone to Pintard's in business. He saw Bond three or four days previous but did not know him before. He knew Bond when he saw him. He had not noticed Bond that day until he found the body in the water. He recognized the body. It was in about 12 or 15 inches of water lying face down. It was dark and he had a lantern. He had been searching about an hour when he found the body. He had gone to the barns and later to the bridge and there had noticed the body. He notified the others of the finding of the body and he and Wynkoop went to the spot and tried to revive Bond. He was dead. There were no marks of violence on the body. He said that he saw no one else looking for Bond at the time he was looking.

Heard Stokes Call

William Styles, who is employed at Pintard's had also known Bond about two or three days since he came to work. He last saw him between 5 and 6 o'clock while he was in the barn. Bond passed by going away from the house. He had eaten his supper and had gone to write a letter when he heard Stokes call and heard Stokes calling from the direction of the stream. He thought Stokes might have fallen from the bridge. He went out. The body had been pulled up so that the head was out of the water when he arrived, after putting on his rubber boots. It was very muddy and had rained. Stokes and Wynkoop were there when he arrived.

Quick Reported Absence

William Pintard was next called. He had been away about all day and had not noticed Bond that day. Bond came to work on March 11, as a handy man about the place. He was splitting ties the day he disappeared. The body was found 276 feet from the house. The men had supper about 5:45 o'clock that night and Bond did not show up. There was company for supper that night and after the men had eaten, the family had supper. The cook, Josephine Jones, told him Bond had not been for supper. About 9 o'clock the company was leaving. It was then that he was informed that Bond was missing and he asked Stokes, who had on boots, to go and find him. He thought he was talking to Stokes when Stokes returned and said he was not with Styles, who was called,

Britain Approves German Proposals

Ready to Underwrite Such Proposals and Believes President Coolidge Is Now Justified in Calling Disarmament Conference.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, March 25.—The British government believes, it was learned unofficially today, that sufficient progress has been made on the question of security to justify President Coolidge in calling a disarmament conference without fear of the land armament problem causing difficulty. The unofficial opinion followed a statement in the House of Commons last night by Austen Chamberlain, foreign secretary, in which he said in effect, that Great Britain was ready to underwrite any proposals which Germany might make looking toward permanent peace in Europe. Chamberlain outlined the "liquid" proposals which Germany was prepared to make. These are:
A special treaty guaranteeing security of France.
A mutual understanding with all powers interested in the Rhine.
An arbitration agreement with all countries bordering on Germany.
The Allies have practically agreed to hold a pact conference. International News Service learns.
France is said to have agreed to the German "liquid" offers with modifications as a basis of discussion. Chamberlain applied the word "liquid" to the German proposals, explaining that they were not intended to be concrete.

Coolidge Again Names Woodlock

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, March 25.—President Coolidge took another thrust at the Senate today by giving a recess appointment to Thomas F. Woodlock, New York financial writer, as member of the interstate commerce commission.
Both in the regular and extra session of the Senate, because of opposition of southern Democrats, refused to confirm Woodlock. Democrats demanded that the vacancy on the commission be given to a man from the south.
Woodlock's name was first sent to the senate by President Coolidge several weeks before adjournment. It was referred immediately to the interstate commerce commission where it was pigeon holed and never got to the floor for a vote.
On the last day of the extra session, the president, overriding the advice of Republican leaders, again submitted the appointment. Democrats, under the leadership of Senator Smith, Democrat of South Carolina, set up a storm of protest and administration chiefs did not press for action, suggesting to the president that he give Woodlock a recess appointment.

Chauffeur Admits 1,000 Burglaries

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, March 25.—Police were investigating today details of a reported confession by Philip Goldberger, 28, a chauffeur, who said he had committed 1,000 burglaries, taking loot valued at more than $100,000. According to police, he divided responsibility for his criminal tendencies between a sweetheart who spurned him and Frank Knoblock, a hapless youth whom he befriended.
Goldberger took police on a tour and pointed out 150 apartment houses he said he had robbed.

Search Made by Stokes at the Barns

Later Stokes went to the bridge and found the body. Mr. Pintard sent the men out to try and revive Bond but their efforts were of no avail. He then phoned Undertaker Moran at Gardiner and also notified Mr. Shappe, who had formerly employed Bond. He did not go down where the body was found until next day. He did not see the body until it had been taken to the Bond home at Gardiner on the following Sunday. That night after Moran arrived he sent his men down to assist in getting the body. Shappe has been at Pintard's that day but had gone home.

Undertaker Gives Testimony

Frank Moran was next called. He was notified by "phone of the finding of the body and responded. When he arrived he found the body lying in about 8 or 10 inches of water. The head had been moved from the water. It was about midnight when he arrived. He had been notified about 10 o'clock. He communicated with Coroner Sulter and then took charge of the body, taking it to his place of business in Gardiner. When he arrived at Pintard's place he went into the house and saw Mr. Pintard, Mr. Shappe, three men and a woman. The three men went with him to the spot and also Shappe. They assisted in moving the body. They were the former witnesses.

He Saw No Marks of Violence on the Body

There was a scratch on the forehead. It was not deep, simply a scratch. He again talked to the coroner in the morning and delivered the body to the Bond home, where later an autopsy was performed by Dr. Stevens of Gardiner.

New Counterfeits Circulate Here

Banks Detect Counterfeit of $10 Federal Reserve Note—Apparently Put in Circulation Here Since Saturday.
A crop of counterfeit five and ten dollar bills are being circulated throughout the country. The counterfeits are very crude. Since Saturday local banks have seen several of the counterfeit $10 Federal Reserve notes, which are particularly noticeable on account of the red and blue ink lines made to imitate the silk fiber of the genuine.
These counterfeits are described in the following circular from the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, under date of February 20.

$10 Federal Reserve Note

"On the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, Massachusetts; check letter 'F'; face plate No. 271; A. W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury; Frank White, Treasurer of the United States; portrait of Jackson.
"This is a poorly executed counterfeit, printed from etched plates, on a single piece of paper on which red and blue ink lines have been made to imitate the silk fiber of the genuine. The seal is very pale blue. The figures of the number, which on the specimen at hand are B515552, are too small and too thick. The letter before this number should be 'A' and not 'B', as all genuine notes of the Boston Federal Reserve Bank bear the letter 'A' before the number.
"This counterfeit should be readily detected."

$5 Silver Certificate

"Series of 1899; check letter 'E'; face plate No. 140; H. V. Speelman, Register of the Treasury; Frank White, Treasurer of the United States; Indian portrait.
"This counterfeit is apparently printed from photo-mechanical plates on two pieces of paper between which a few silk threads have been distributed. It is of the same workmanship as the bill described in our circular letter No. 548, dated December 15, 1924, but the face plate is much improved, particularly the Indian portrait. The seal and large blue numeral are poorly executed, and if scrutinized with any care should readily detect the counterfeit. The number of the specimen at hand is N64043603. The back of the note is poor, being very much darker than the genuine, and the fine lines of the lathe work are entirely missing in some of the border, notably in the lower center of the note."

$10 National Bank Note

In a notice issued Tuesday to banks and trust companies, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, also gives warning of a third counterfeit $10 National Bank note which has made its appearance. It is described as follows:
"On the Chatham and Phenix National Bank of the City of New York; letter 'C'; H. V. Speelman, Register of the Treasury; John Burke, Treasurer of the United States; portrait of William McKinley.
"This is a poorly executed photograph on a single piece of paper, with red and blue ink lines to imitate the silk fiber of the genuine. The specimen at hand bears charter No. 10778, Treasury No. T48041H in upper right end of note, and bank No. 435369 in lower left corner. These numbers are uncolored. The Treasury seal has had blue coloring applied. This counterfeit should be readily detected."

ACCUSE SIX OF TEACHING BOYS TO STEAL BONDS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, March 25.—With the arrest of six middle aged men, police today expected to clear up several recent bond thefts, totalling more than $200,000. Twenty thousand dollars of the loot has been recovered.
The prisoners, according to police, are modern Fagins, never taking part in actual thefts but teaching young boys to pick pockets of Wall Street messengers carrying thousands of dollars worth of bonds. All six were charged with grand larceny. One of them, police said, confessed.

"FOURTH BURGLES" CAUGHT IN BOSTON

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Burglars Visit South Rondout Tuesday Night

Break Into Post Office but Obtain Nothing—Burglarize Residences and Stores of Edward Scherer and John Stoudt and Vetoskie's Butcher Shop.
Tuesday night the same gang of burglars who have been committing a number of minor robberies about Kingston changed their scene of operations to South Rondout, where they burglarized the post office, the store and residence of Edward Scherer, the store and residence of John Stoudt and the butcher shop of A. E. Vetoskie.

The Series of Robberies Were Not Discovered Until This Morning

When the matter was reported to the sheriff's office.

The Post Office Is Conducted by John Pardee

Entrance was obtained by jimmying a side window. The cash register was taken into the yard and broken open but there was no money in it. Nothing else was taken at the post office as far as could be learned.

At the Store and Residence of Edward Scherer

There was taken money and jewelry. In the rear of the store is the dining room and the burglars piled some dining room chairs against the door leading to the other rooms of the building so that they would not be interrupted by anyone coming down stairs. Edward Scherer's clothes were taken out into the yard, where they were found later in the morning. The store and dining room were ransacked by the thieves.

At the Store and Residence of John Stoudt

A slat on the shutter was forced off, the shutters were opened and the window was then jimmied open. The show case in the store was carried into the yard and broken into. Some money in the show case was stolen but the thieves did not take any of the contents of the show case, which was filled with cigars, etc.

At the Butcher Shop of A. E. Vetoskie

A panel was removed from a door and entrance obtained to the shop. About $40 in money was stolen.

The Manner in Which the Burglars Obtained Entrance to the Various Places Tuesday Night Bears All the earmarks of the Jobs pulled off recently in Kingston

It is thought that the thieves traveled in an automobile.

None of the occupants of the buildings burglarized were awakened or heard any unusual noise during the night

America Safe in Trade Conflict

Department of Commerce Says They Can Look Forward to It in Confidence—Trade With Latin America Grows.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, March 25.—A great "trade conflict" is impending between the chief competing nations of the world, but American business men can look forward to it with confidence. This prediction was made by the department of commerce today simultaneously with the publication of an analysis of foreign trade, which showed that the exporters of the United States are rapidly forging ahead in the great competitive markets of South America and the Far East.

Julius Klein, director of foreign trade, called attention to an increase of $430,000,000 in America's foreign trade last year.

Klein believes that manufacturers of the country will reap a wide benefit from increased purchasing power of the competitive markets of Latin America, Asia, Oceania and Africa, which took imports last year of $6,600,000,000, or more than double the 1913 figure. A continued expansion of these markets is anticipated in view of the tendency toward improvement in living standards.

Analyzing the South American market, Klein says that the United States and Great Britain lead, each holding about 24 per cent of the foreign trade, with Germany 11 per cent. Since 1913, the United States has doubled her relative strength in this market.

Among the factors contributing to the greater volume of Latin American trade with this country is "our increased investment in commercial securities of that territory," according to Klein. Private investors of the United States hold over $1,000,000,000 in Latin American securities compared to $1,000,000,000 in 1913.

SUSPEND SENTENCE ON EAST KINGTON NEGROES

Ralph Brooks and Matthew Freeman, negroes employed on the Race track at East Kingston, were arrested Tuesday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Ellsworth and Guyer on warrants charging them with drunkenly, disorderly conduct and for making threats. The complaints were their wives. They were arraigned before Judge Webster at Flatbush, who imposed a sentence of 30 days in jail for each. After a hearing he suspended the sentence with a warning that should they be arrested again and brought before him he would see they would have to go to jail.

Purchase Value of the Dollar.By Telegraph to The Freeman,
New York, March 25.—Continued improvement in industrial conditions generally at a conservative pace is indicated by the monthly report of the National Industrial Conference Board for January on wages, hours, and employment, while a tendency toward increase in the purchasing value of the dollar is indicated by the Conference Board's report on the cost of living, showing a decrease of one and one-tenth per cent between January 15 and February 15.Factors making for improved industrial conditions in January were increased employment, increased working hours and an increase in the average weekly earnings of all workers. A net increase in employment of slightly more than two per cent occurred from December to January, gains being reported by 17 industries, while eight showed decrease, somewhat in line with seasonal requirements. The average work week per worker increased from 47.9 to 48.7 hours. Average weekly earnings of all workers rose from $26.85 in December to $27.09 in January, slightly surpassing the level of January a year ago, when the average weekly earnings stood at $27.06.Even the situation of the workers in the northern cotton mills, whose wages had been subject to reductions, were better off in January owing to increased working hours, raising their average weekly earnings from $20.32 to $20.61.With his weekly earnings in January, the worker could buy the same in goods and services as he could during the preceding month, the index number of "real" weekly earnings computed by the Conference Board remaining unchanged at 123 during that month. This despite a slight advance in cost of living from December to January, which was offset by the increase in weekly earnings.Average hourly earnings of all wage earners declined slightly, from 56.1 to 55.9 during the month, but coincidence of this with increased employment leads the Conference Board to the conclusion that the hourly average in wages was lowered by the putting on of additional workers at lower rates of pay.The more pronounced gains in employment occurred in the following industries: Agricultural implements, automobiles, cotton (in the north),
silk and foundries. Industries showing the greatest increase in working hours were the boot and shoe, cotton (northern), leather tanning, rubber, silk and foundry industries.Increased weekly earnings were reported in the boot and shoe, hostelry and knit goods, iron and steel, leather tanning, wool and foundry industries.

GEM AMONG CITIES*Gayety and Animation Its Chief CharacteristicsThe little house was on a small side street that bore the fine name of Ker-lerec, away but not isolated, from the main thoroughfare. It was one of the one-story cottages built directly on the sidewalk in a long row that filled the block, all shut in by heavy green battered doors and French windows fastened with long iron hooks; whose little wooden steps to the "banquette" in front were kept polished by daily scrubbings with red brick. The fran-cance of the rich golden-bued wild camomile flowers pervaded these humble streets as the scent of roses and jasmine the streets of the rich. It was built in the stereotyped Creole fashion with two rooms front and two rooms back, a gallery along the rear, wide enough to give the space for a small dining-room—which looked out on a little square garden with red brick walls and a center parterre always filled with flowers. Across the garden were the servants' quarters, the rooms of Charlotte and Rosalie, so well known by all of Mme. Girard's scholars, and beyond these another yard that stretched to the next street —Dauphine street.New Orleans at that period could not but please refined and elegant exiles from Saint Lucie. The city, Grace King writes in the Yale Review, was filled with gay, animated, French-speaking throngs. Slaves were as numerous as they had been in the old home. The shop windows on Royal and Chartres streets had nothing to fear in comparison with the glittering streets of Saint Pierre.
Fashions, luxuries, bonbons, books, pictures and jewelry were displayed with the same sure confidence of purchasers here as there. Laughter and pleasantries were apparently the commonplaces of conversation. Piano music flowed through every window, the passer-by humming an accompaniment.What is called today the "Vieux Carre" was then the city. It was compactly built with solid brick houses, whose iron-railed balconies with their garlands of filigree work extended over the banquette; whose courtyards with great gates, then as now wide open, showed the luxuriant tropical foliage of their secluded gardens—the lounging place of the gayly turbaned women and the well-dressed servant men of the establishment.
Fresh meats, fresh vegetables and fruits were cried every morning in the musical patois to which the island ears were accustomed. At night the theaters, the opera and public balls kept the city awake and alive with their gaiety, while children fell asleep behind the batten windows to the pretty thrills of the ice-cream cart that busily threaded its way in and out of every thoroughfare.Little Heart Breaker
The beautiful Peggy Joyce, whose marital troubles have caused her to suffer a nervous breakdown, is the subject of an anecdote.Peggy, even as a little girl, was a great breaker of hearts—or so, at least, the anecdote would have it. One afternoon the minister called at the Joyces and took her on his knee.
"I'll give you a dime, my child," he said, "if you'll tell me who your sweetheart is."Peggy blushed, hid her face on the minister's shoulder, and presently said in a low, bashful voice:
"Arthur."The minister forked out the promised dime. Little Peggy studied it gravely for a moment. Then she said:
"If you'll give me another dime I'll tell you who my other sweetheart is."Famous Early PoetsThe troubadours were poets, often of high rank, who flourished chiefly in Provence, in the south of France, during the Eleventh, Twelfth and Thirteenth centuries. In the Langue d'Oc, which was their medium of expression, they produced romances, but excelled especially in lyric verse. They were usually accompanied by professional musicians, known as juglars, who sang their master's verses. The compositions may be classified under the heads of turnement, or contests between minstrels; chansons, or lyrical songs; sirventes, or songs of war and chivalry; serenades; and pastourelles.
The most famous troubadours were Raimon de Cœur, King Thibaut IV of laume Machaut.—Kansas City Star.Folding Baby CarriageOwners of apartment houses, par-

Charge Malice in Shepherd Case

Defendant's Counsel Insists Testimony of Two Witnesses Demonstrates Malice as Defined by Law—Application for Bail, Undecided.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Chicago, Ill., March 25.—On the same spot where last summer State Attorney Robert E. Crowe battled to defend the lives of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, he today made a desperate effort to keep in jail William Darling Shepherd, lawyer, charged with the typhoid murder of his millionaire foster-son, William Nelson McClintock.

Crowe was flanked by his chief aides, George E. Gorman and Thomas Marshall, famous indictment expert, who drafted the bill upon which Shepherd is held.

Marshall in beginning his argument reiterated the stand that corpus delicti may be proved by circumstantial evidence and that it has been established in this case.

Then he waved aside the plea of the defense which rests chiefly upon the contention that corpus delicti has not been established.

"But that is not the most important phase of this matter," he said. "We must consider whether there has been malice, premeditation or design."

Marshall then referred to the testimony of state witnesses, C. C. Farnham, J. P. Marchand, Dr. George Foster and Alexander Reichmann—who were called by the defense to show that bail should be granted. Their testimony, Marshall declared, demonstrated that there was malice as defined under the law.

"There are degrees of murder," he said. "Manslaughter is bailable, but murder is a capital offense and is not bailable."

Nearing End in Income Tax Fight

As Per Cent Reduction Bill Placed on Assembly Calendar and Expected to Pass Today—Governor Believes Radio Talk Produced Results.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., March 25.—Governor Smith's fight for a 25 per cent reduction in the state income tax was fast nearing a successful finish today.

The rules committee of the assembly reported out the 25 per cent reduction bill sponsored by Assemblyman Phelps, Republican of New York.

The measure was placed on the calendar immediately, and it was expected to be passed before the lower house adjourns late today.

Although they have agreed to pass the bill cutting the income tax 25 per cent, the Republican leaders of the legislature still insisted today that it would mean many appropriations which should be made this year will have to be postponed until the 1926 session.

A 25 per cent cut will save the income taxpayers approximately $8,500,000.

In order to bring about the reduction, the governor will be forced to veto a bill appropriating $9,000,000 for rural schools which the Republican leaders have decided to pass.

The governor said today he would veto the school bill because the money would not be needed until next year and that there was no good reason why it should be appropriated at the present session.

Governor Smith intimated today he believed the radio talk which he made on "spending the people's money" had much to do with forcing the Republican leaders of the legislature to agree to a reduction in the income tax.

American Legion May Lose Head

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 25.—The American Legion may be without a national commander temporarily as a result of the National Press Club Post of Washington passing out of existence. It was learned today at national headquarters.

The question was raised as to whether National Commander Dr. J. W. Davis, a member of the defunct post, could legally continue to head the organization.

Membership of the Washington Post included such notables as General John J. Pershing, Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and Vice President Davis. It was declared defunct March 15 when records showed it held less than fifteen memberships.

BANDITS BATTER DOWN DOORS TO GET $10,000

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, March 25.—Four bandits battered down the door of a specialty shop owned by Maurice Mendel at 2242 Broadway today and trapped in a limousine with $10,000 in cash and bonds valued at $10,000.

They threatened to shoot several bystanders who attempted to intervene.

Three of the bandits smashed the glass panel of the front door and hurriedly loaded the loot in the car while the fourth held lookouts at bay with a drawn revolver. Passersby were detained until the bandits escaped. Police were pursuing the robbers.

The loot consisted of expensive furs, jewels, and watches. The proprietor said he believed the bandits had been aided by a discharged convict.

Extra Panel for Chapman Jury

Mail Bandit's Trial Moves Rapidly in Connecticut Court—Court Summons 150 Extra Jurymen—Bandit Closely Guarded.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Hartford, Conn., March 25.—Selection of only one more juror was needed to complete the jury which will try Gerald Chapman, mail robber and jail breaker, when court was resumed this afternoon. Chapman is charged with the slaying of James Skelly, a policeman, of New Britain.

Eleven men were in the jury box. Six jurors had been accepted this morning and five yesterday. The speed shown today indicated that a jury would be obtained this afternoon.

Arthur E. Bowers, former state senator from Manchester was the eleventh juror accepted.

The routine of jury selection was broken by Judge Jennings in arranging John Farnham, newspaper photographer of Springfield, Mass., who snapped a picture in the court room. Two detectives dragged Farnham before the bench. Judge Jennings consigned Farnham to the court house "pen."

Work of selecting the jury progressed rapidly. George G. Hibbard, 41, insurance agent of Bloomfield, was the eighth juror accepted.

The ninth juror accepted was Garvan S. Fallows, 69, retired machinist of Wetherfield.

Fallows stood up on the witness stand during interrogation and brought the first touch of humor to the trial in his robust manner of replying to questions.

When asked his business, Fallows exclaimed: "I'm a loafer. I've worked fifty years from morning to night." He went into a detailed record of a recent operation.

Chapman registered his first court smile at this and nodded his head to accept him.

Will J. Crockett, 36, engineer, of Manchester, was accepted as the tenth juror.

As soon as Chapman's handcuffs were removed by the two husky guards who accompanied the prisoner to court, Chapman slipped quickly into his chair and talked earnestly to counsel. When the first salesman was called Chapman rested his hand under his chin and trained cold blue eyes on him testily.

Seven talesmen were quickly examined and eliminated, two drawing lengthy conferences from the defense. Lengthy conferences between Chapman and Groehl preceded each challenge.

Emerson E. Ocott, sixty, retired tobacco grower, of Glastonbury, was accepted as juror number 6. He was the ninth talesman to be examined and the first juror to be selected this morning.

The seventh juror accepted was Charles S. Isleib, 34, farmer, Marlborough. Chapman pursed his lips thoughtfully before finally nodding acceptance of Isleib.

A new panel of veniremen has been drawn following the exhaustion of the first panel of 150. When court was resumed this morning only nine peremptory challenges remained for the defense. This fact was expected to expedite selection of the jury.

The streets surrounding the red brick court house where the notorious bandit is being tried were jammed with curious throngs before the opening of court.

With the report that "Dutch" Anderson, Chapman's pal, who escaped from Atlanta federal prison after Chapman's successful dash for freedom, was in town, a "pilot" was added to the convoy conducting Chapman from the state prison to the court house.

The first five men accepted for the Chapman jury were admitted by both state and defense to be excellent jury timber. The type of veniremen represented in both panels assures Chapman of a "fair trial," according to State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn.

TEAPOT DOME EQUITY SUIT NEARING END

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Cheyenne, Wyo., March 25.—The Teapot Dome equity suit, the most momentous oil litigation ever instituted in the United States, swung into its last lap today as George P. Hoover, of Washington and Martin W. Littleton of New York, defense counsel, argued points of law and lack of conspiracy, respectively. In behalf of Harry F. Sinclair's Mammoth Oil Company, and Owen J. Roberts planned to close the government's case in a summing up late this afternoon.

Hoover will discuss the fundamental principles of law applicable to the issues at stake, while Littleton's oratory is expected to center around an attack upon congress as a result of that body's action in demanding the annulment of a lease which he will argue was consummated under an act passed by the legislative body itself.

Church Family Supper.

The last of the church family suppers and study hour will be held on Thursday evening at 6 o'clock at the Roundout Presbyterian Church. A covered dish supper will be served.

Schools on Strike

Strikes are not a modern trouble. One of the earliest and oddest strikes on record is that which took place in Oxford, England, in 1200, when, in consequence of a peculiarly outrageous appropriation of town upon gown, masters and scholars to the number of 2,000 "armed tools" and retired in high dudgeon to adjacent owners of housing. The schools were closed, the city was held under an interdict, and the trouble only ended five years later in the complete humiliation of the erring burgesses, who were compelled to do public penance and to accord large privileges to the university. When the offended clerical family conspired to return, these "blackbills" who had continued to lecture in defiance of the will of the majority were punished by three years' excommunication.

Sue Lillian Gish For Injunction

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, March 25.—While Lillian Gish, screen star, sat in court drawing pictures on a pad of paper and scanning press notices, her former attorney, George W. Newgass, took the witness stand in the injunction suit of Charles H. Duell, motion picture producer, to restrain Miss Gish from breaking her contract with him.

Newgass, who yesterday admitted he was attorney for Duell and Miss Gish at the same time, told the court he had not advised the star on certain technical matters relating to her share of profits from a picture on exhibition. He also admitted taking no action on a cable sent by Miss Gish from Italy in Mar. 1924, asking him to collect back salary and other money she said was due her.

Asked by Max Steuer, Miss Gish's attorney, whether he advised Miss Gish of his connections with Inspiration Pictures, Newgass said he had not.

Federal Judge Mach's court room, where the case is being heard, was packed to the doors.

James Lasky, vice president of the Famous Players-Lasky Motion Picture Company, appeared in court and was expected to take the stand in Duell's behalf this afternoon.

WDBZ Will Be Silent Tonight

The WDBZ broadcasting station will be still this evening. The program scheduled to be broadcast this evening by Paul Zucca and his entertainers over the local Boy Scout station will be deferred until a later date. The repairs which the broadcasting apparatus has been undergoing for the past week have not been completed, which necessitates the postponement of tonight's program.

William Warren of Hurley has been making the necessary repairs to the machine, which, when completed, will greatly add to the efficiency of the popular station. It is expected by Sunday that the machine will again be ready to broadcast.

The series of Sunday radio vesper services will be resumed next Sunday, when the Rev. Frank R. Seelye, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church, will conduct the services. The church choir will render the musical program.

ELIMINATION BOND ISSUE REPORTED FAVORABLY

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., March 25.—Governor Smith's proposed $200,000,000 bond issue for the elimination of grade crossings was favorably reported in the Senate today by the judiciary committee. There was every indication the resolution would be adopted in both houses.

The judiciary committee also reported the grade crossing resolution sponsored by Senator Macdonald, Westchester Republican. This would make the county instead of the locality responsible for 25 per cent of the elimination cost.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Tokyo, March 25.—The Japanese army plans to spend five million yen ($2,300,000) for prison gas laboratories and equipment to be completed in 1927, according to an article today in the Kokumin Shinbun.

Movie Censorship Bill Defeated

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., March 25.—Governor Smith's bill to abolish the motion picture censorship commission was defeated today in the Assembly on a strict party vote of 29 to 49.

The vote came after Assemblyman Bloch, the Democratic leader, had moved to discharge it from further consideration of the bill.

Thirteen statutory consolidation bills, recommended by the governor, were defeated by a similar vote on motions to discharge.

The bill to abolish the movie commission was sponsored by Assemblyman Hackensack, New York Democrat. Not one Republican voted for discharge of the commission.

Assemblyman Esmund, Republican, Saratoga, said the women of the state wanted the commission retained.

"The only women I know who want the commission retained are those who have nothing to do but play with their poodle dogs," retorted Hackensack.

"Do you mean to insinuate you haven't any of those poodle-trotting women in your party?" asked Esmund.

"Yes, we have them in our party but we don't pay as much attention to them as you do in your party," Hackensack replied.

In opposing the motion to discharge, Assemblyman Clayton, Republican of Brooklyn, father of the censorship law, said:

"We must keep this law on the statute books because many of the producers would subsidize the souls of our daughters for a few dollars."

Clayton's remarks caused a roar of laughter from the Democratic side of the house.

The "public utterances" of Mrs. Elizabeth V. Colbert of Albany were cited by the Senate finance committee today as the reason for reporting unfavorably upon confirmation of her nomination as motion picture commissioner at $7,500 a year.

The reference was believed to be to the interview the day after she was appointed in which she stated her opposition to the censorship law and her belief that it should be liberally enforced.

"We have reached the conclusion," said the finance committee, "after careful study of her public utterances that she was not a believer in the principle of censorship and therefore a careless of her high qualifications."

She was not a proper person to be a member of a commission to enforce the provisions of the motion picture statute.

"If the moving picture act is to be enforced, it can only be done by people who are in sympathy with the provisions of the act. It would be better to reveal the act than to have an unfriendly commission."

First Trip to Albany.

The steamer Jacob H. Truemp of the Central Hudson Steamboat Company is expected to make its first trip of the season to Albany on Tuesday, March 31.

STATE FUND FOR WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION KILLED

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., March 25.—A dozen bills backed by the State Federation of Labor and including one providing for an exclusive state fund for workmen's compensation legislation, were killed in the assembly today, on motions to discharge.

Only one Republican, Assemblyman Rieck, of Kingston, voted with the Democrats in favor of the measure.

A majority of the bills provide for amendments to the workmen's compensation law.

Red Cross Takes Over Relief Work

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Benton, Mo., March 25.—With relief work solely in the hands of the American Red Cross and reconstruction well under way in Southern Illinois tornado-torn cities, efforts were directed today toward rural rehabilitation throughout the entire storm area.
At Murphysboro, the burden of all relief work in Indiana, Illinois and Missouri was officially shifted from temporary agencies to the Red Cross at a mass meeting of civilians and rescue crews. Administrative offices for the tri-state operations will be established at Murphysboro.
Branch bases will be set up in each stricken city and village where staffs of trained workers will be stationed.
Today a caravan was leaving the entire storm area in the three states. It consisted of a train carrying complete commissary and sleeping quarters for 50 workers. Automobiles followed the train.
These workers will clean up the hundreds of farms leveled in the storm path without charge to tenants.

Financial and Commercial

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, March 25.—Stock prices made good recoveries today from the downward movement which has been in progress about two weeks. Compared with yesterday's low prices, these advances ranged from 3 to 10 points, not all of which were retained, however.
Most of the issues which have been receiving a severe hammering from bearish traders, snapped back in good form when the bears attempted to cover. But stock offerings continued heavy in other sections of the list and prices there were dropping while others were advancing.

The decline of Union Pacific Common to 125½, the lowest price since July of last year, was the feature of the railroad list. The northwestern rails were higher and so were New Haven and other railroad shares which declined sharply at the end of Tuesday's session, but they did not succeed in making up the lost ground.

Steel stocks were steady today with United States Steel a strong leader in the industrial stock market.
Occasional spurts of professional buying sent prices of specialty stocks from two to five points higher, but declines generally followed the withdrawal of traders from the market.

Motor stocks followed the lead of the Maxwell and Chandler shares to higher levels in the late trading and Pan-American performed the same service for the oil stocks.

Savage Arms, American Can and other industrial leaders jumped 5 to 10 points when buying for short covering became more insistent and such movements were practically the only features of the industrial stock list.

Work for Arms Conference

United States and Great Britain in Harmony—Doubts Dispel by Developments in Washington and London.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, March 25.—Great Britain and the United States are working in close harmony toward the staging of another arms limitation conference in Washington within a year.

All doubts on this course were dispelled today by two significant moves, one in London and one in Washington.

In London, the Baldwin ministry came out unreservedly in favor of a security pact for Europe that will embrace every first class power, and provide mutual guarantees against armed conflict for at least a generation.

In Washington, President Coolidge has directed Secretary of State Kellogg himself to go to London and acquainted with British views to begin the ground work of preparation for a second arms conference.

The proposed arms conference and the proposed security pact are interwoven, in the opinion of diplomats. While the security pact might be possible without the arms conference, the arms conference is not possible without the security pact.

The difficulty in promoting a second Washington conference is the distrust of the French. French objections are based on her fears of "another invasion" and the "German menace." If, now, all the nations of Europe, including Germany, can be drawn into a common agreement to guarantee existing boundaries and pledge themselves not to go to war for years to come, then the need for gigantic military establishments, such as France maintains, evaporates in thin air. French objections to reducing armament likewise evaporate.

Hence, the Anglo-American partnership in the promotion of a second arms conference, comes down to this:

Great Britain, is to arrange the security pact on the continent, and when that is accomplished, the United States as a disinterested party, will invite the nations of the world to again gather around the conference table in Washington.

No immediate result is anticipated. Either it is expected the negotiations over this security pact will stretch out over the summer and that there will be a long and tedious by-play before anything concrete can be put on paper.

Some of the more optimistic officials here believe that the security pact will be an accomplished fact by autumn.

By that time, too, consideration of another arms reduction agenda should have progressed to such a point where little or no time will be lost in issuing the invitations for a second Washington conference.

Dry Bill Needs One More Vote

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, N. Y., March 25.—In a last minute endeavor to round up one more vote for the Wales-Jenks state prohibition enforcement bill, the senate took an hour's recess at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

The dry bill will be brought up for final action in the upper house late today. Its defeat is certain, according to the wets.

Twenty-six votes are necessary to pass the bill and the drys admitted they had but 25. The votes of four Republicans, Senators Karle, Nicoll, Whitley and Lipowicz, are expected to send the dry measure down to defeat.

Forest Fire Near Highland

The first forest fire in this section of the Hudson valley broke out Monday morning on the hillside south of Highland. The fire started near the tracks of the West Shore railroad at a point opposite the plant of the De Laval Separator Company.

It burned its way up the side of the mountain in a belt approximately an eighth of a mile in width. The origin of the blaze is unknown.

Workers were immediately sent out to fight the flames and succeeded in extinguishing them shortly after noon.

The fire broke out later Monday evening but was finally put out. No damage was done and no further danger is anticipated from that source.

A Surprise Party.
A very enjoyable surprise party was tendered Raymond Long at his home, 52 Lawrence street, Monday evening in honor of his fourteenth birthday. The evening was spent in playing games, singing and dancing. Pork Chops
"Sir Ellis Barker, the famous London surgeon, warns us to leave preserved foods alone. He says preserved foods lack vitamins."

The speaker was Earl Akers, mayor of Tappan. He resumed:
"After that pronouncement, whenever I hear preserved foods being praised I think of old St. Hoskins, the miser."

"A friend dropped in on St. as he was frying a brace of pork chops. 'Fine chops, them,' said the friend, smiling benignly."

"Fine chops?" grunted old St. as he turned them, all sizzling and smoking in the frying-pan. 'Well, I guess they are fine chops. None o' yer murdered stuff, neither. That hog died a natural death.'"

Jazz Novels
George Lohs, the noted New York painter, looked up with a sigh from a new novel of the jazz or Greenwich Village school. Then he read, now from this page, now from that:

"Don't I know RT snapped mother."

"Ah, what's catch' 'er?" snapped George.

"I don't care a darn," snapped Mother.

"None of your 'R's,' snapped father."

"How do I know?" snapped mother."

Mr. Lohs closed the novel and laughed in his hoarse way.

"How's that," he said, "for happy dialogue?"

Leprosy Cure Reported
The leprous case of Miss Florence Wheeler has attracted some considerable attention at Kingston because after treatment with the new Philippine cure she has remained "negative" for two years, during which she was on probation. If so other signs develop in the near future she will probably be released from the San Lazaro leprosy hospital. She is fifteen years old and the granddaughter of Gen. Joe Wheeler, famous cavalry leader of the Confederacy. The Cuban leprosy colony has in recent years released two cases when a cure was pronounced definite.

Methodist Split Still Exists

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, March 25.—The ancient differences of opinion that more than eighty years ago split the Methodist Episcopal Church over questions incident to the Civil War, flared up again today in the Baltimore district conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and resulted in the defeat of the proposed unification of the northern and southern branches.

The vote was 137 to 141, and was preceded by considerable parliamentary maneuvering and speeches.

Highland Sewage System Planned

State Department of Health Bans Dumping Into Highland Creek—Meeting of Taxpayers Early in April.

Following the receipt of notice from the state department of health that the dumping of refuse into the village creek definite action by the residents of Highland to provide some other method of sewer disposal has become imperative, it was stated Tuesday.

A meeting of taxpayers will be held under the auspices of the Highland Chamber of Commerce early in April for a general discussion of ways and means. In this manner it is hoped to get an index of public sentiment.

According to engineers who have looked the situation over carefully it is estimated that the probably cost of an adequate sewage disposal system would be in the neighborhood of $100,000. Owing to the fact that Highland is not an incorporated village a sewer district would have to be formed, in order that the necessary bonds for the raising of the required funds could be issued.

The notice from the state department of health fixes no definite date when the dumping of refuse into the creek must be discontinued.

Then He Remembered
A year ago a college student living in Dearborn wore the coat of his suit and sat in a Dearborn tailor for repairs and pressing. Yesterday he happened to enter the little shop and he called out only at once recognized him as the person who left the suit a year back, and told him that it was a year back and had been completed, and if he did not come for the suit in a short while he would charge a charge. And it was then that the student remembered that he had been in a tailor shop for a whole year.

"But your wife want to work as usual," chided the boss.

"Trench she want, sah, but dat am mah chird wife. De am only her in weddin', so Ah didn't want her to lose a day."—American Legion Weekly Transcript.

Matrons Are Favored by Modes of Present

It is no longer smart to be merely youthful, says the Montreal Family Herald and Star.

That fashions have favored youth only has been the complaint made for several seasons by those for whom first youth at least has passed. So universal has been the youthful style adopted regardless of years that surprise has not been uncommon when the view of the face has contradicted that of the figure. Now we learn through the medium of the stage, which nowadays holds up the mirror to fashion, that the new mode is for matrons, and youth ceases to be a virtue in modern styles. A mature sophistication in clothes replaces the youthful ideal, and from the girlish type, so often affected—with disastrous results as to appearance—by matron and young girl alike, the new fashionable figure is sleekly hair-dressed, gowned with an effect of physical and mental maturity, and presents manners that correspond with her sartorial effect. This is the newest presentment by Dame Fashion working largely through the medium of the theater.

In the last two seasons, while fashion was still glorifying in straight and youthful simplicity, the theater had gone a large step ahead

Chapman Denies Murder Guilt

GERALD CHAPMAN GUARDED

Turned by police officials as the most dangerous criminal of the area, Gerald Chapman, who escaped from Atlanta penitentiary where he was serving a term for mail robbery, was placed on trial in Hartford, Conn., for his life, charged with the murder of James Slady, a New Britain, Conn., policeman. The notorious bandit has declared that the "cards are stacked against him," and that he "hasn't got a chance." With the stories of Chapman's daring escape from the Atlanta jail, followed by his flight from the prison hospital at Atlanta, Ga., with three bullets in his body, fresh in their minds, police authorities of Hartford have turned the city into a veritable armed camp, in the hope that he might make another attempt at escape while his life hangs in the balance.

Washington the Best Club in American League

Senators are Much Improved in Pitching and Reserve Infield—Detroit Picked to Finish Second and Yankees in Third Place.
(By Davis J. Walsh.)

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, March 25.—After due deliberation and a vague sense of unease in the vicinity of the abdomen, the writer has selected the Washington Senators as the best ball club in the American League for the season of 1923, in much the same manner that he might decide one pea in a pod is better than a half dozen others. There happens to be eight clubs in the American League and six of them figure as actual contenders. The best thing about this business of pre-race pennant picking is that no one remembers the selections in October.

The remaining contenders, any one of which may rise up to any found me in subsequent months, are the Detroit Tigers, the New York Yankees, the Cleveland Indians, the Athletics and the St. Louis Browns. The teams are named in the following order, not because they are in duty bound to observe the order of march but because I happen to believe they will finish that way:

1 Washington; 2 Detroit; 3 New York; 4 St. Louis; 5 Philadelphia; 6 Cleveland; 7 Chicago; 8 Boston.

The absolute selection over which I feel at absolute ease is that of the Boston Red Sox. If they run better than eighth at the wire, it will be up to all concerned to tear up their dope sheets and eat the pieces. The White Sox are a different matter. They finished last in 1924 but didn't belong there, and with the popular Collins in command may forget the past and make a fool out of the present.

The Senators have the impetus of last year's victory behind them and are much improved in pitching and reserve infield material. If Peckinpaugh carries on, I don't see how the Senators can lose.

Perhaps the Tigers might arrange the matter, for it is no secret that Cobb has assembled one of the strongest clubs in baseball. Just what he will do with it remains with the immediate future. It is the general understanding that they could have played better baseball during the last several years. That makes them an uncertain pre-race proposition.

It is the writer's judgment that the Yankees shot their bolt when they didn't win last year. The club is no younger than the law allows and the pitching that carried it to three straight pennants is no longer there. Shocker will or should win plenty of games for Huggins but Penneck is not in the best of condition and Shawkey and Jones are uncertainties.

The Browns, a great hitting club, are due for a comeback with Sisti himself again. To the success of the team, the difference between Sisti in condition or out means the difference between a real contender and a chronic also ran. They are placed above the Athletics, who I am pleased to regard with misgivings.

It is the same club that came with a rush last year, plus Lefty Groves. If that young man is as good as they say he is, it will be hard to keep the Athletics out of the third place position, yet the club lacks steadiness and cohesion and this race promises to be to the eternally swift.

Cleveland, with its patchy infield and uncertain pitching, expects to finish in the first division. I don't think it will, for the reasons stated. In an ordinary year, the Indians would probably do so but this one figures to be about as ordinary as a rubber collar at the charity ball.

CALLS "BIG" MUNN A CENTURY PLANT

Has All Attributes of Real Wrestling Champion. Says One Critic.

Wayne "Big" Munn, the new wrestling champion, is proving a wonderfully popular champion. Munn makes friends everywhere he goes. People like him. They like to look at him. The following article in the Chicago American by Ed Smith is a reflection of the general popular opinion of Mr. Munn's new wrestling sensation:

"They come only so often, these remarkable looking athletes of the Wayne Munn type. Appearance in his case is a wonderful asset, and when he strips and gets into action he makes some of the other big fellows look like the act was being cleaned. His astonishing personality is going to take him a long way, and even if it is discovered later that he hasn't the athletic ability to carry himself to great heights in the wrestling game, he will ever be remembered as a man of distinction far above the average."

"At the Coliseum the other night a good judge of athletes observed Munn for the first time doing a bit of a stunt and marveled at the size of the man, the fine head, the clean pose, and all the remainder of the man who claims he defeated Ed Lewis fairly and honestly."

"He's a century plant," he concluded. "They don't produce that kind very often. You can see in every move he makes that he is there with a great idea of all that is required of him. He believes in himself, which is a fine thing for any athlete. He feels that he can do it, and from all indications he is going out to do it the first chance he gets. He has all the attributes of a real champion if he can carry on the way he says he can."

Plan Big Upper Deck

There will be about 2,500 more grandstand seats in Clark Griffith stadium when the world champion Nationals open their 1923 season than are to be found in the Georgia avenue baseball plant now. A contract closed calls for the double-decking of the rightfield pavilion the upper part of that section to be a continuation of the grandstand. The addition to the local plant will give Washington one of the few completely double-decked stands to be found in the American league cities.

Another Fast One.

U. S. Method of Training Best

Flying Finn's Diet Proves That He Is Superman To Eat as He Does and Then Win Races in Record Time.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, March 25.—Paavo Nurmi's recent collapse in the 5,000-metre race at the local Knights of Columbus games did more than merely illustrate that the great Finn after all, is human. It proved that American training methods are not quite the asinine proposition that Nurmi's succession of records seemed to indicate.

It proved that these records were made because Nurmi is Nurmi and not because he happens to partake of an occasional diet of black bread and dried fish. In fact, they were sometimes made in spite of, rather than because of Nurmi's training methods.

No American athlete, for example, would have eatenveal pot pie on the night of a race as Nurmi did when he collapsed. The traditional American pre-racing diet is a chop, dry bread or toast and a cup of tea. Sometimes the chop is replaced by a small steak.

Veal is absolutely taboo. It is considered the most indigestible of meats and not without reason. Nurmi would have been equally justified in consuming a plate of leather watch fobs.

But it was not the first occasion on which the Finn had violated our sacred precepts on athletic diet. According to his intimates, he is given to eating, any and all dishes and at any and all hours. He generally tops them off with large quantities of coffee.

Such a gastronomic display did not cause Nurmi to go out and break records, as some silly persons seemed to think. They merely proved that he was a superman, in truth. Of all the great runners I can recollect, only Mel Sheppard showed such carelessness in diet.

Sheppard was very fond of cheese and didn't hesitate to eat it before a race. He apparently had the stomach of a goat, since those indiscretions had no harmful effect on his running. Another athlete would have shortened his career by years and his best time by many seconds had he followed the same course.

GIBBONS-WILLS BOUT PREDICTED IN MAY.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, March 25.—Predictions were being made today, following the State Athletic Commission's edict on Jack Dempsey, that Harry Wills and Tom Gibbons, leading challengers for the heavyweight title, would be matched within twenty-four hours. The plan is to have the contenders meet for the benefit of the local milk fund in May and the privilege of enjoying a clear field to match with the champion.

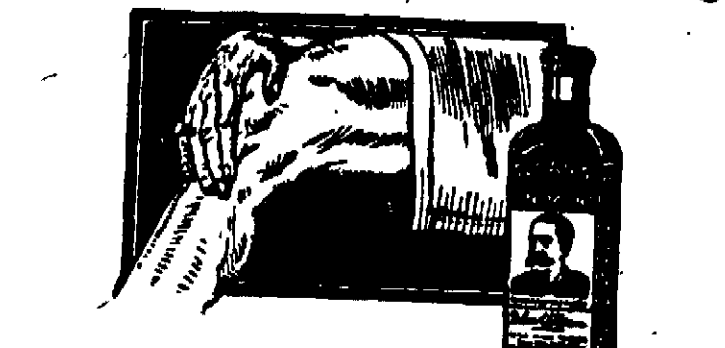

Gibbons already has gone on record as being willing to take on Wills as a preliminary to a title bout, but Wills has held off because he claimed he was entitled to a match with Dempsey without further ado.

HARVARD CYCLISTS READY TO CHALLENGE YALE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Cambridge, Mass., March 25.—Harvard has found a sport at which Crimson supporters believe Eli Yale can be defeated.

The "revolution" came from an old attic. It appeared in the form of a pair of old-fashioned, second-hand tandem bicycles.

Harvard boys brought out the bicycles and are getting into form by the daily practice of racing up and down Massachusetts avenue.

The captain of the Harvard bicycle team has not been chosen, but a challenge to Yale is being prepared.
